

As Austria's leading private waste disposal and recycling company, Saubermacher is regarded as the competent partner for all environmental issues in both Austria and all neighbouring countries. The company, which was founded in 1979 by Hans and Margret Roth as Roth-Umweltschutz GmbH, continues its dynamic growth trend and now recruits approximately 2,700 employees in Austria and abroad generating an annual turnover of over EUR 200 million.

In the fields of waste collection and waste disposal, Saubermacher services 400 local authorities and 25,000 customers in trade, commerce and industry in Austria alone. Furthermore, we also contribute to the development of modern environmental standards in a new Europe with 40 foreign joint ventures and locations in Slovenia, Croatia, Hungary, Czech Republic, Romania, Bulgaria, Serbia and Macedonia. A network of partner companies enables Saubermacher to also offer area-wide solutions.

The three core sectors of our corporate philosophy:

Customer and market orientation:

Our activities are geared towards long-term partnerships.

We are in constant communication with our customers — thus enabling us to identify their needs, adjust our package of services accordingly and do pioneer work in the development of innovative solutions.

Quality orientation:

The quality of our services is the main prerequisite of our entrepreneurial success. Visible signs of this are, among others, the international certificates ISO 9001 and ISO 14001, certification as a specialised waste disposal company and the Austrian national coat of arms. This seal of quality, which is borne by Saubermacher, stands for high environmental and quality standards as well as reliable waste disposal.

Employee orientation:

An "environment worth living in" incorporates a safe, motivating work environment for our employees. The high level of our human resources development measures is reflected in the "Investors in People" (IIP) certificate, an internationally recognised quality standard for human resources management.

Saubermacher goes to every effort to be able to offer its customers an almost seamless waste disposal chain — from waste bins or multi-bin systems in front of homes to collection and further processing then recycling and waste disposal in special facilities. Services not only include collecting, weighing, splitting and recycling municipal, industrial and hazardous waste, but also sewer services, oil separator maintenance, environmental analyses, disposal of waste electrical equipment, event waste disposal, sewage sludge recycling, road sweeping, industrial cleaning and treatment of hazardous waste. Customised waste management solutions contribute to minimising waste disposal costs and optimising business and municipal waste management.
